Profile

All my life I've been inclined to design, but it wasn't until recently that I realised my true calling in life. That's why I enrolled in an HNC for web design and now I would like to use my newly acquired skills (and keep improving them) to create well designed products.

I am a responsible, organised and dedicated person. Used to working in a very busy environment dealing with people of all ages and cultural background, always maintaining politeness and a positive attitude. I'm a quick learner and take on new challenges with enthusiasm.
